The city of Florence will host the digital art pop-up exhibition "Reconciliation with the Living" from April 26 to 30, 2023, as part of the international event Art For Tomorrow proposed by the Foundation for Culture and Democracy. This exhibition, initially conceived with the support of UNESCO, highlights artists committed to the environmental cause.

"Reconciliation with the Living" is a call to reconnect with nature and more especially all forms of life. The artists featured in the "Reconciliation with Life" exhibition have been carefully selected for their commitment to the environment and their ability to use digital art to raise public awareness.

"We are excited about our collaboration with Art For Tomorrow to showcase this exhibition, which was first unveiled at UNESCO HQ in November 2022. We strongly believe that art has the power to change mindsets and raise awareness about the urgent environmental issues facing our planet," said Rachel Guez, Vice-President of Culture For Causes Network.

The exhibition "Reconciliation with the living" will be open to the public from April 26 to 30, 2023 in Florence, Italy. We warmly welcome all art enthusiasts, nature aficionados, and individuals who share an interest for environmentalism to explore this exhibition.
